REPORT OF THE JOINT LIBRARIANS OF PARLIAMENT, 1908-9.

To the House of Commons.

The Joint Librarians of Parliament have the honour to present their report for the year 1908-9.

The latest revised laws of many of the American states have been procured; and by process of exchange, the revised laws of most of the Colonial dependencies have been obtained. There is probably no part of the Empire unrepresented on our shelves.

The discussions on the question of defence have been followed during the recess; and members will find in the card catalogues references to many authorities, articles, reports of speeches, &c.

During the recess efforts have been made to procure shelf room for the current official publications of the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Having, during several years called the attention of Parliament to the necessity for providing additional space in the Library, the Librarians have only to add to former representations, the statement that the necessity grows each year more pressing. It will be hardly just to hold the Librarians responsible for delays and confusion which they have endeavoured to prevent, but which can hardly be longer avoided. The plans for an extension of the Library prepared by the Chief Architect and submitted several times to Parliament, promised a satisfactory addition to the shelf space; but no steps have been taken to carry these plans into execution.

The binding of newspapers has become especially a source of trouble. The number of papers to be bound has increased beyond what seems reasonable, and the size of the principal journals has increased in many cases four-fold thus increasing the expense for binding, as well as requiring more space. On the other hand, the increase in the number of Provinces and in the numbers of representatives, and the multiplication of centres of publication, makes an increase in the number of periodicals, bound for preservation, inevitable.

Among the important additions which have been made to the section of American History, we may mention: 'Sketches of North America and the Oregon Territory,' by Captain H. Warre, A.D.C. to Sir R. D. Jackson, Late Commander of the Forces. Folio, beautifully illustrated with views of Vancouver, Fort Garry, &c., London, 1846. Also 'A catalogue of books relating to the Discovery and Early History of North and South America', forming part of the Library of E. D. Church, Esq., New York, 5 vols., 1909. This catalogue gives fac-similes of title pages and an accurate description of all the books mentioned in it, and is consequently very valuable to the purchaser of Rare Americana.

In connection with this subject, it may be mentioned here that the Librarians have been able to secure a large number of copies of old newspapers. This has enabled them to complete several series of the same, or replace bound copies which have been borrowed and lost.

During the past few years, the literary and historical annals of England and France have received, in unusually large numbers, most interesting contributions in the form of Memoirs, Souvenirs and Correspondence. The Librarians have acquired copies of these precious collections, so important and so interesting from an historical point of view.

The card catalogue begun several years ago, has been continued during recess.

An extract of the Quebec law catalogue, giving the titles of all the codes of the Province of Quebec, commentaries with law periodicals bearing on the same, will be found annexed to the annual supplement.

The transactions of the numerous historical societies of Canada and the United States have been kept up to date, as much as possible. The value of the documents which they contain cannot be overestimated by the student of American History.

Among the valuable additions to the legal side of the Library may be mentioned the 'Legislation of the Empire, 1898-1907,' which is the result of the labours of the Society of comparative legislation, and will be found valuable by all who seek to know the laws of the remoter regions of the Empire.

A list of the English, French and American periodicals preserved in the Library is appended to the annual list of accessions.

The Statistics of the Library are, as usual, appended hereto.

The usual list of donations is also appended.

The annual catalogue is on print and will be distributed at any early day.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
